Welcome Lillian Hartman!

We are pleased to announce our new RSVP director, Lillian Hartman.

Sally O'Connell, Lillian Hartman, Emma Gabriel

Lillian "Lilly" Hartman joins the Norfolk County Commissioners' Office in March 2014 as the new RSVP Volunteer Director. She grew up in Bedford, MA and attended college at Cornell and Syracuse in upstate New York. Before returning to Massachusetts, she served for two years as RSVP Director for Tompkins County NY and for one year as AmeriCorps program coordinator for New York Campus Compact, an association of colleges hosting AmeriCorps programs.

Lilly affirms, "I am excited to work with such a large and active group of volunteers in my home state." RSVP is a volunteer program comprised of volunteers age 55+ who build stronger communities together through service. This year RSVP will serve over 50 public and non-profit organizations, and expand its volunteer programs for Norfolk County elementary schools and veterans. Thanks to the Norfolk County Commissioners for supporting this valuable program.

Volunteer Opportunities
